Trustees elect Rodel Rodis President, and Johnnie Carter, Jr. Vice President

Rodel E. Rodis was unanimously elected President of the Board of Trustees of the San Francisco Community College District at a regularly scheduled monthly meeting held Thursday, January 24, 2002 at the college's Southeast Campus.

Johnnie L. Carter, Jr. was elected Vice President of the Board.

As chair of the Board's Facilities Committee, Rodis initiated the successful campaign to obtain voter approval for a $195 million bond measure to build and renovate the infrastructure of City College. Rodis is also credited with acquiring the 15-acre South Balboa Reservoir for City College.

President Rodis was the first Filipino American to be elected to public office in San Francisco, winning a seat on the Board in November of 1992. He was re-elected in 1996 and 2000. He also served two terms as President of the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission.

President Rodis is active in community college trustee organizations, serving as President of the Association of Asian/Pacific Islander Trustees and as California State Chair of the international Association of Community College Trustees.

Vice President Carter was appointed to the CCSF Board of Trustees in March 2001 by Mayor Willie L. Brown, Jr. He works as a Senior Aide of State Senator John Burton and is active in mentoring and youth programs.

Vice President Carter is a member of the San Francisco NAACP and Residents of the Southeast Sector (ROSES), and serves on the Executive Board of the Bayview Opera House/Ruth Williams Memorial Theatre, Thad Brown Boys Academy, and the San Francisco African American Historical & Cultural Society.

CCSF Code of Conduct noted

By Dr. Philip R. Day, Jr.
Chancellor

As a follow-up to the deliberations of the Diversity Committee that occurred after September 11, 2001, the Committee felt very strongly that a "Code of Conduct" needed to be developed and communicated to our college community. Prof. Glenn Nance and Vice Chancellor Frances Lee agreed to collaborate on developing a draft for the committee's consideration. They have done so and the committee has reviewed and approved for distribution.

The document speaks for itself and I believe it can serve as an excellent guide for our behavior and conduct as we strive to work towards the creation of a climate that is free of hate, bias, abuse, harassment, or discrimination. It is attached for your review.

Please read it carefully and reflect upon its intent. I would urge faculty members to share this with their students and perhaps, as a focus for class discussion, as appropriate. If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to contact me directly.

Code of Conduct

City College of San Francisco faculty, staff, students, administration, and board of trustees are committed to a respectful and harmonious learning and working environment.

Eric Greenberg will provide eight scholarships to CCSF students

City College of San Francisco has announced eight full tuition scholarships to be awarded to Bay area minority youths from entrepreneur and philanthropist Eric Greenberg, founder of Viant and Scient corporations, two of the leading eBusiness system innovators.

Since 2000, Greenberg has financed the college education of 31 youths through programs with City College of San Francisco and the Federal Law Enforcement Foundation, which provides scholastic support to the children of FBI agents that have been injured or killed in the line of duty.

"I believe that providing an education for talented young people without financial resources, is one of the best investments anyone could make," said Greenberg. "My wife and I are blessed to be able to provide this opportunity for them and are confident they will become extremely successful and important contributors to our society."

In addition to his commitments to education, Greenberg has funded medical research programs with the University of California San Francisco and New York Presbyterian Hospital and sits of the Development Board of Steven Spielberg's Shoah Foundation.

"Eric Greenberg's generosity is making a lasting difference in the lives of some of our neediest students," said Dr. Philip R. Day, Jr., Chancellor of the City College of San Francisco. "We are honored to offer eight Eric Greenberg Scholarships to inner-city minority youths who have proven potential to be outstanding City College students."

KRISTIN HERSHBELL

Kristin Hershbell, Associate Dean, Grants, Resource Development

Kristin Hershbell joins City College of San Francisco in the newly created position of Associate Dean for Grants and Resource Development. She was a Survey Designer and Analyst for Bio-Link, a National Biotechnology Education Center for community colleges funded by a National Science Fund grant and coordinated by City College of San Francisco. At Biolink from 1999 to the present she developed an analyzed national survey to collect information about community college biotechnology programs.

"For several years, I have closely observed City College's proactive and innovative approach toward providing educational opportunities and services for the San Francisco community. I am honored to be part of this vital effort," Hershbell says.

TED ALFARO

Ted Alfaro, Director, CCSF Latino Services Network

Ted Alfaro has joined City College of San Francisco as Director of the Latino Services Network. He comes to us from San Francisco Unified School District (SFUSD) where he was most recently Director of School-to-Career/ROP Programs. During that time and an earlier stint at principal of Mission High School, he forged long-term partnerships with a variety of community-based organizations as well as public institutions and major corporations. His efforts included creation of a new technology center, an on-site Latino parent and day-care center which afforded parents to the opportunity to take classes in English, obtain a GED and upon completion apply for matriculation at CCSF.

Alfaro is no stranger to CCSF. During his five years as the chief administrator of Mission High School, he was instrumental in establishing matriculation programs

CCSF students and faculty free a turtle on winter trip to Vietnam

By Sirous Monajami

Louise and Claude Rosenberg, Jr.
Library & Learning Resources Center

During this year's winter break, Professor Chuong Chung led a group of City College students and faculty (ESL instructor Timotha Doane and me, librarian Sirous Monajami) on an educational tour through Vietnam.

The tour itinerary included travel in Saigon (Ho Chi Minh City), the Mekong Delta, Hue, Hoi An, Hanoi and the magnificent Ha Long Bay.

One notable opportunity for the group was the chance to meet with dignitaries from several universities in Vietnam, and pose questions about the system of higher education in Vietnam. It was particularly interesting to compare the resources of these universities with those of City College. For example, there is no general circulating collection in the libraries; all the books are kept behind a "reserve" desk for library-use-only.

The grand finale of the trip had to be the mystical boat ride through Ha Long Bay, a World Heritage site renowned for the other-world beauty of the dramatic rock islands that seem to go on forever. Early in the trip, the group stopped off to take pictures at a houseboat situated in a floating village. There, in a floating cage, was a giant turtle captured from Ha Long Bay, or more likely from one of the many beaches of the bay. Inspired by the loving spirit of Vietnam, the group pooled its resources and saved the turtle from its certain fate. The turtle then joined the group on board the boat for the rest of the day until its release in the deepest depths of Ha Long Bay.

SF Public Library needs your photos of OMI neighborhoods

The San Francisco Public Library is looking to expand its History Center collection of photographs of past residents and places in the Ocean View, Merced and Ingleside neighborhoods. Representatives of the library are convinced that these photos exist in family albums, shoe boxes, old business files and organizational archives.

Residents past and present are invited to bring in family albums and photo collections to the Ocean View Branch Library, 345 Randolph St. at Ramsell, on Sunday, February 24 from 10 A.M. to 4 P.M. The photos will be copied while you wait. Then the photos will be added to the Public Library's archive and exhibited in the community.

Volunteers are also needed to select and document these photos. If you have an interest in history, archives and photography and can make a two-day commitment to participate, please call Nina Sazevich, the Project Manager, at (415) 752-2483. Hands-on training will be provided to volunteers on Saturday, February 23 from 9 A.M. to 4 P.M. Lunch will be provided to the volunteers on both days.

with CCSF. In particular, all Mission High School seniors took the required CCSF placement tests, received guidance throughout the enrollment process from counselors, and, in many cases, were successfully placed in classes at CCSF.

He has been honored for his many contributions to the community, including special recognition from The Association of Mexican-American Educators, and The Mayor's Community on Hispanic Gangs.

Alfaro received his bachelor's degree in Social Science from Michigan State University and earned his Master's Degree in Education from Harvard University.

At CCSF, he envisions creating and orchestrating a variety of new programs within the Latino Service Network that would promote and expand career options of the student body. In addition, he intends to draw upon the rich ethnic, racial and linguistic diversity already found at CCSF in order to cultivate a supportive environment for enhanced personal development. "I see the union of both academic rigor and personal enrichment as indispensable in preparing the optimal CCSF graduate for the 21st Century," says Alfaro.

Ted Alfaro and his wife Annette have two young children, Nicholas and Arianna.

III. APPROVAL OF MINUTES

The minutes of November 28, 2001 were approved without objection.

IV. ANNOUNCEMENTS

President Ophelia Clark congratulated CCSF student Desirree Abshire for being appointed by Governor Davis to the California Community College Board of Governors. She encouraged Council members to suggest to Vice Chancellor Goldstein their ideas about which forms should be available online. The Filipino student clubs sponsored a Blanket Drive for homeless World War II veterans. She went to the musical "Happy End" and enjoyed the novel seating arrangement. Clark welcomed John Adams Campus Dean Linda Squires-Grohe and thanked her for the refreshments.

V. OFFICERS' REPORTS

A. President

President Ophelia Clark distributed a written report. She watched the Rams win the State championship at the CCSF-Palomar football game. Clark attended meetings of the College Diversity Advisory Committee, the Student Preparation and Success Committee, and the College Advisory Council. She met with Senate member Deanna Abma to approve the latest articulation report. She and the officers met with Senate member Julia Bergman and design consultant Alison Nordström to discuss the visual education project "OUTLOOK." Clark has written to Vice Chancellor Goldstein regarding the treatment of Senate member Abdul Jabbar. She was pleased to report that related files have been destroyed as requested by the Executive Council.

B. First Vice President

No report.

C. Second Vice President

Second Vice President Susan Lopez reported on several items. Both the Board minutes and the AFT 2121 contract are now available online. She has met with Leslie Smith, Director of Governmental Relations, to get additional information about the census enrollment method for Noncredit attendance. The measure is slated for a Board of Governors vote in March 2002.

D. Secretary

Secretary Teti reported that the Mathematics Graduation Requirement group met to discuss how the College might respond to the State Chancellor's Office's reading of Title V. Second Vice President Lopez and he will work with the State Academic Senate and the Associated Students to find support for an alternate reading. He encouraged all Council members to attend the February 13, 2002 meeting of the Bipartite Committee on Graduation Requirements.

He reported also that Council will soon consider nominations for the next Hayward Award.

VI. UNFINISHED BUSINESS

A. Implementation of 2001-2002 Executive Council Goals

Second Vice President Lopez described plans, prompted by the Council's "Mutual Interest" Goal, for the Senate officers to meet with representatives from other College constituencies and to discuss collaboration on various issues.

Lopez drew attention to several action items in the "Strengthening Representational Nature" Goal. These included a regular Senate column in City Currents, promoting shared governance at Department meetings, and mailing agendas to campuses.

B. Update on Enhanced Self-Study (ESS) Recommendations

President Clark informed Council that several ESS recommendations have been approved by appropriate Governance committees and will come before Council in the Spring. Clark has been actively promoting the inclusion of Noncredit concerns in the language of certain recommendations. Second Vice President Lopez confirmed that implementation of the ESS recommendations will be written into the new Strategic Plan and future annual plans. President Clark reminded Council that the Planning and Budgeting Council must approve of any recommendations that require funding.

VII. NEW BUSINESS

A. Parking Issues

Senate member Carol Fregly thanked Council for approving her appointment to the Parking and Transportation Committee, and she encouraged Council members to send her any ideas she might bring to the Committee. She informed Council of the difficulty of parking on campus for evening classes. She explained the need for signage directing students toward student parking, and identifying Cloud Circle as faculty parking. Council expressed support for these ideas.

Council member Sunny Clark, Chair of the Facilities Projects Subcommittee, invited Fregly to attend a Subcommittee meeting in the early Spring.

B. Commitment to Academic Freedom

President Clark and the Council reaffirmed the right of faculty to academic freedom of expression in the classroom.

C. Budget Update

First Vice President David Yee confirmed that the hiring freeze applies to new, permanent (not replacement) positions, and that the College will henceforth encumber State Chancellor's Office "land-grant" money immediately. (Land-grant money was withdrawn if not used. Second Vice President Lopez reported that we lost Joint Use Facility money for this reason.) Similarly, the College will encumber block-grant money.

D. Planning Documents

First Vice President David Yee reported that the Planning and Budgeting Council (PBC) adopted the 2002-2003 Annual Plan draft. This draft will go before the Board in January. He described the status of the current Strategic Plan. The PBC adopted a definition of a vision statement as well as a vision statement itself. Council expressed concern that the use of the future tense in the vision statement might be interpreted as indicating that we are not already realizing the vision.

Council member Mueller is working with Senate member Bill Beaver, chair of the Information Technology Policy Committee, on the privacy issue. She had planned to attend the first meeting of the new City College Foundation but the meeting was postponed.

E. Chancellor's Evaluation

President Clark reminded Council that the evaluation of the Chancellor, as currently administered in the Fall, is done before the Chancellor has the chance to meet his annual objectives. The Board has proposed that the Chancellor Evaluations be held in the Spring.

F. Commendation of Football Team

2001-12-12-01 (Lopez/Duckworth) MSU That Council congratulate the Rams and their coaches for winning the California state football championship.

VIII. COMMITTEE APPOINTMENTS

2001-12-12-02 (Teti/Osborne) MSU

That Council approve the following Governance appointments, as recommended by the Committee on Committees.

Registration and Enrollment Subcommittee: Fred Safier* (Mathematics)

International Education Subcommittee: Mary Renner (Business)

*reappointment

2001-12-12-03 (Teti/Osborne) MSU

That Council appoint Senate member Maria Heredia (Counseling) to the Equivalency Committee.

IX. GOVERNANCE REPORTS

A. Academic Policies Committee

Council member Mueller reported that the Academic Policies Committee plans to publicize heavily its Spring agendas so that everyone interested in seeing the ESS recommendations can attend. Mueller felt strongly that such broad academic issues as the new "Transfer" Associate Degree, new English and Mathematics minimum requirements, new academic calendar, and articulated majors should be put to a faculty-wide vote for approval as has been done at many other colleges.

B. Communications Committee (of the College Advisory Council)

Council member Podenski reported that Terry Hall, Dean of Scheduling, will rework the Schedule so that it no longer needs a "footnotes" page. The Student Handbook may be replaced by an agenda/calendar book with important dates, accompanied by a CD-ROM with selections from the catalog. It is hoped that the new Handbook can still be provided free of charge.

The Catalog is proving more difficult to review because of its many contributors and cross-references. Senate member Tom Blair will write a report in a January issue of City Currents.

The Committee has drafts of the new College website front page. A demo of the front page and the paths for Administration and for registration will be held in February.

X. OPEN FORUM

President Clark distributed a table showing CCSF's transfer rates to the CSUs and to the UCs. CCSF is ranked number four among California Community Colleges for transfer to the CSUs, and number nine for transfer to the UCs. Council member Mueller pointed out that the rankings do not take the full-time/part-time student ratio into account, so CCSF's ranking is truly spectacular.

XI. ADJOURNMENT TO END-OF-SEMESTER CELEBRATION

The meeting was adjourned at 4:45 P.M.

A. President

President Ophelia Clark reported on several items. Future Chancellor evaluation will occur in Spring semesters. Governor Davis has recommended that Community Colleges, instead of K-12, offer all the public vocational and adult programs. Faculty will elect the 2002-2003 Executive Council later this semester.

On Sunday, January 6, 2002, the State Senate held a hearing on the new Western Association of Schools and Colleges (WASC) accreditation standards, Draft A. This draft features four standards instead of ten, talks about "employees" instead of "faculty", and reduces the faculty role in decision-making. WASC will create Draft B based on the feedback in response to Draft A. Hearings on Draft B will be held in March in Hawaii.

Approximately 30 faculty have attended meetings of the Alternative Calendar Working Group. Other interested faculty can call Dean Terry Hall to join the listserv.

Clark will attend the January 25 State Academic Senate hearings in Oakland to discuss changes in the Disciplines List ("minimum quals").

B. First Vice President

First Vice President David Yee reported that CCSF plans to implement the Smart ID card, and that the College is already using 4-digit ID numbers.

The Curriculum Committee's four vacancies will be listed in City Currents.

C. Second Vice President

Second Vice President Susan Lopez expressed concern about the effect of the accountability movement on Community College faculty, and emphasized the need to balance pressure exerted by external stakeholders. She is especially concerned about recent directives from the State Chancellor's Office, and about the changes in the accreditation standards. Faculty should be educated about the accountability movement and seize the active role of reformer.

D. Secretary

No report.

V. UNFINISHED BUSINESS

A. Update on Enhanced Self-Study (ESS) Recommendations

President Clark distributed a table listing the approval status of the ESS recommendations. Most recommendations are still in committee, and many will come before Council this semester. Senate member Eve Tarquino, Chair of the Noncredit Issues Subcommittee, reported that the Subcommittee has already approved several such recommendations, to support the Union's efforts to decrease the noncredit load.

B. Report on the New Strategic Plan and on the 2002-2003 Annual Plan

Council member Mueller reported that the new Strategic Plan will contain a vision statement that is currently in draft form. The Plan must be flexible because funding for some projects is not yet allocated. The entire College will soon be working on the bond issue projects. The Planning and Budgeting Council hopes to work out the details at its March and April meetings, and the final review will occur in Fall.

VI. NEW BUSINESS

A. Report on Privacy Issues

Senate member William Beaver reported that class lists and PARS forms now use four-digit student ID numbers to help prevent identity theft. This is temporary; we will have artificial ID numbers soon. CCSF needs a privacy statement asserting that, as an ethical institution, we will not sell information.

B. Report on Website Design

President Clark distributed a sheet displaying partial pages of the proposed CCSF website.

C. Full-time and Part-time Faculty Report

D. Union Report

Senate member and Local AFT 2121 President Allan Fisher reported that the Union will be active at Lobby Day, and that the Union will elect its 2002-2003 Executive Board later this semester. He will be seeking commitment from the District for 100% pro-rata part-time pay, pending availability of funds. The Union will examine inequities in load factors. He mentioned as examples the noncredit teaching load and the lab-hours load.

VII. ADJOURNMENT

The meeting was adjourned at 9:15 A.M.

Respectfully submitted by

Frederick Teti,
Secretary

Hats from Central Asia and Silk Road displayed in Library

Currently on display in the fourth floor exhibit cases of the Louise and Claude Rosenberg, Jr., Library and Learning Resource Center are hats from Central Asia and the Silk Road.

All of the hats except one are part of the collection of Bob Jones, a faculty member in the Asian Studies Department of CCSF. (The other hat belongs to Julia Bergman.) Jones has taught classes in the art, anthropology and archaeology of China and conducted archaeological fieldwork in Taiwan, where he lived for almost a decade. Jones, who has been collecting hats for 15 years, writes about the Silk Road and the hats on display:

"Along any section of the 5,000-mile Silk Road, from China to the Mediterranean, the ubiquitous presence of unique and colorful headwear is one of the most commonly recognized expressions of local cultures. Although sometimes associated with religious dictates (as is, for example, the wearing of the yarmulke by male orthodox Jews), the diversity of skullcap styles along the Silk Road seems more apropos for defining ethnicity than indicating religious persuasion.

"In China's western province of Xinjiang, and in neighboring Kyrgyzstan and Uzbekistan, each of the native Turkic-speaking (and particularly Moslem) peoples, be they Uyghur, Kazak, Kyrgyz or Uzbek, often wear a distinctive assortment of headgear. While there is much inherent variation, a Uyghur person is easily distinguished from a Kazak or Kyrgyz by the dopa or scarf that he or she wears. The cap becomes one of the most distinctive and easily recognizable of several cultural attributes (which may also include jewelry, scarves, dresses, overcoats, footwear, etc.) by which an individual is instantly identified visually and classified as a member of a certain cultural milieu.

"Indeed, the oases-dwelling Uyghurs of the arid Tarim Basin in western China, a settled people numbering eight million, identify strongly with their native oasis. Each oasis has developed a distinct variation on the "chili pepper" or "bird's wing" design seen on the dopa, distinguishing the local inhabitants from those living in other oases. Men and women, boys and girls, usually wear distinctive hats, differentiating age, gender, status and even economic background.

"In the horse-oriented pastoral culture of the Kyrgyz of Central Asia, and among other settled but sheep-herding peoples such as the Kurds, wool felt hats are both culturally distinctive and practical. They are both warm and waterproof, as well as easily fabricated. Wool felt hats have even been discovered buried with the so-called Xinjiang Mummies, dating to c.1000 B.C."
