ACCREDITATION

Self Study to be finalized in Fall

Fall Flex Day 2005 marked the start of the third and final phase of the 2006 Accreditation Self-Study project. To date, more than 300 copies of the Full Draft Self Study Report have been circulated throughout the campuses and among all key shared governance constituencies.

The draft report is the culmination of efforts from phases one and two of the project, which resulted in the creation of a series of standards reports and theme essays. Over the summer months an editorial committee comprised of Kristin (Hershbell) Charles, Associate Dean of Grants and Resource Development; Bruce Smith, Dean of Liberal Arts; and Lauri Fried-Lee, ESL instructor, reviewed the draft documents previously approved by the Self-Study Steering Committee, chaired by Chancellor Day. The Full Draft Self Study Report is the first comprehensive draft of the Self Study that presents in one document all of the major sections of what will become the final report.

The months of August and September are largely dedicated to a thorough review of the draft report, with a series of campus-wide listening sessions and meetings with shared governance organizations and the Board of Trustees scheduled for the purpose of providing swift feedback. A second draft will be produced at the end of September and a third draft will go before the board in late October for final approval. The document will be printed in December and distributed in its final form to the College community in January 2006. The WASC accreditation team will be visiting in March 2006

Weekly issues of City Currents will publish a running schedule of meetings and other feedback opportunities. Ann Zinn will also be a primary contact for feedback. She can be reached at 239-3304 and/or azinn@ccsf.edu.

The Full Draft Accreditation Self Study is NOW AVAILABLE online at www.ccsf.edu/Offices/Research_Planning/study.html or by contacting Ann Zinn at azinn@ccsf.edu or 239-3304 to request a copy.

Please submit modifications to Ann Zinn (above). To download a Modifications Form from the accreditation website, see link above.

Deadlines for modifications:

- Friday, September 2 for review by Steering Committee on September 7
- Monday, September 19 for review by Steering Committee on September 21
- Monday, October 3 for review on by Steering Committee on October 5

Dance faculty had busy summer

The popular TV show So You Think You Can Dance has City College connections: Finalist Melody Lacayanga studied ballet with Theresa Gensler for a year, and one of the choreographers and judges, Alex da Silva, was helped as a beginner by Valerie Watson. Also, Allan (Big Papa) Frias, was brought by Kirstin Williams to teach a Master Class. But we are not surprised, as many fine and future dancers have come through our program!

Here are some of the activities of some of the dance faculty this past summer:

Valerie Watson: studied Dance, Religion & Ritual at San Francisco State, then attended the IX World Orisa Conference in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. She was elected to serve on the Ethics Committee for the World body of Orisa practitioners from Africa, Europe, Mexico, North and South America. The company she directs, Alafia, will be performing at the opening of the de Young Museum this October.

Theresa Gensler: completed Pilates Certification through Synergy Fitness in Berkeley, writing a manual which will be used for future certification.

David Blood: served on a committee to contact alumni dancers of the Oakland Ballet, where he performed. The Alumni dancers will be honored on stage during the opening night performance, Friday October 15, of Oakland Ballet's 40th season. David co-produced the 3 day Blues Dance Festival held on in the North Gym over the summer, which brought over 130 students here from as far away as Texas.

Jacqueline Wesley: participated in the tap dance festival, Stepology, then refined and reformatted hundreds of her poems and short stories for publication and collaboration with a small greeting cards and ceramics business.

Jeanne-Marie Hughes: attended the Seattle Folklife Festival, which features artists from around the world presenting dance and music performances and lessons. Afterwards she traveled to Ferndale, Washington, for the Scottish Highland Games, enjoying the dance, music, and athletic events. She attended the first, and very successful CCSF Blues Dance Festival, performances of the San Francisco Ethnic Dance Festival and a Summerfest concert. In July, Jeanne began intensive study of water aerobics, water walking, and water running. While all of these activities unfolded she was doing her most exciting and rewarding project of all.....being a mom to two sweet and beautiful girls: Fiona, newly adopted from China, and Sophia, also from China.

Gail Barton: began the summer by arranging over 100 student discount tickets for the San Francisco Ethnic Dance Festival performances at the Palace of Fine Arts. She taught several classes at the Free Folk Festival, as well as attending classes there and at other venues. Some of her intermediate ballroom dancers were cast to be in a waltz scene for a feature length film, Colma: The Musical (website: www.colmafilm.com), directed by Richard Wong and written by H. P. Mendoza.

Chelsea Eng: was featured in 12 tango performances from San Francisco to Seattle (with male partners from San Francisco, Philadelphia, and Seattle and with the all female dance company, Tango Con*Fusion) . *Tango Con*Fusion: The Documentary* debuted August 28 at ODC Theatre in San Francisco. (www.tangoconfusion.com)

Kathe Burick: started the summer off by attending the 'Traditions in Tap' Festival in New York City and ended it by studying here in town at the San Francisco Tap Dance Festival. Teachers included Arthur Duncan of the Lawrence Welk Show fame. In between working with some of her favorite tap dance artists and teachers she found numerous opportunities for activism, including nonviolent, direct action at the Nevada Nuclear Test Site and the Lawrence Livermore Lab on the 60th anniversary of the U.S. bombings of Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

Anne Roake: took the CCSF cheerleading squad to Notre Dame High School in Belmont to participate in the United Dance Association Cheer Camp on August 3– 5.

Marguerite Fishman: taught Ballroom Dance in Palo Alto helping parents waltz and swing gracefully through their adult childrens' summer weddings. She continued her research and study of Ballroom dance with Gail Barton, and waltzed with several CCSF dancers in a feature-length film shot in Colma. She designed the book cover for Four Gifts of the Mind, Imagery Journeys of Self-Discovery recently published and now available at www.innerimageonline.com

Many exciting events are planned for Fall 2005, including a new event - Dance Sampler on Sunday, October 2 – see the Dance Calendar at www.ccsf.edu (search: Dance) or call PE-N 452-5353.

'Making Math Real' at CCSF

Twenty-nine faculty and staff from Mathematics, DSPS, Transitional Studies, and the LAC participated in a three-hour, optional flex day (Monday, 8/15) opportunity to learn a "multi-sensory structured" approach to teaching math. Dr. David Berg, the presenter, is a nationally known math educator and educational therapist who founded an institute—Making Math Real—based on the approach. The institute's location in Berkeley makes it especially easy for the Math Department to schedule follow-up sessions. This special opportunity was made possible by funds from a Carnegie grant for Strengthening Pre-Collegiate Education in California Community Colleges received by CCSF earlier this year.

RECOGNITION OF ACHIEVEMENT

CCSF Teacher Prep among best in US

The American Association of Community Colleges (AACC) recognized CCSF's Teacher Prep Center with its Teaching by Choice Award. Kathleen White, CCSF Teacher Prep Center Coordinator, notes that the recognition comes with a $10,000 award in the category of "Student Recruitment." Only 10 colleges from around the country were selected for this award. "Congratulations to Kathleen who is involved quite heavily and significantly in the national movement to assert the community college role in teacher education," said Dr. Philip R. Day, Jr., Chancellor. "Her Department Chair, Prof. Steven Rico, and her colleagues in the department also deserve a 'Well Done!'"

Juan Gonzeles recognized

Journalism faculty member Juan Gonzales was honored August 24 at a special celebration for Mission District activists. Titled Honoring Our Own: Los Vereranos Activistas de la Misi3n, the event honored Gonzales for 35 years of publishing the El Tecolote newspaper.

Wilma Pang at Fringe

Music Instructor Wilma Pang appears as "Second Auntie" in the modern Chinese ghost story Green Bamboo Hermitage which plays for four performances at the San Francisco Fringe Festival this month. The dates and times at the Exit Stage Left, 156 Eddy (between Mason and Taylor streets) are: September 10 at 1 P.M., September 11 at 5:30 P.M., September 15 at 7 P.M. and September 18 at 1 P.M. For details, visit www.thevisibletheater.org.
