MARCH 27–APRIL 2, 2006

Accreditation Team issues preliminary report

Members of the college community came together March 24 in the Diego Rivera Theatre to hear the Exit Comments of the Chairperson of the WASC Visiting Team, Dr. Constance Carroll.

“For those of you who were not present, you should know that the report of the Chairperson, although unofficial at this time, provided for a very strong reaffirmation of the quality of this great institution and the people that work within it,” says Dr. Philip R. Day, Jr., Chancellor of City College of San Francisco. “The report correctly identified areas that continue to need improvement (no surprises and certainly nothing that our own Self-Study Team hadn’t identified in our own self-assessment).

“Overall, the recommendations were few and the words of praise and positive observations were many. Specifically, Dr. Carroll’s report stated that ‘You (City College) have an extraordinary faculty and extraordinary staff, including dedicated administrators, who are the best in their fields.... You have taken the time and made the effort to work collegially as a team. Board members, administrators, faculty members, and student leaders exhibit high regard for their counterparts in other segments of the organization. You have reach a special level in your development and the good will you express for one another is wonderful to see, and it will carry you far as you make the difficult choices and decisions that lie ahead.’”

Dr. Day adds, “Congratulations to everyone and many thanks to Dr. Bob Gabriner and his staff (particularly Diane Tong, Attila Gabor, Ann Zinn, and Gohar Momjian), members of the Steering Committee and all who participated. You deserve the honor of being recognized as an outstanding symbol of what this great institution represents. Thank you so very much for your efforts.”

A copy of the full text of Dr. Carroll’s comments is on the website www.ccsf.edu/Offices/Research_Planning/pdf/team_closing.pdf. Excerpts from the comments follow.

You have spent the last two years developing a thorough self study, which our team has read and reread and reread. As part of your self study, you also developed six thematic essays that illustrate aspects of the self study process. And the team has read and reread and reread the essays. You have amassed a room full of documentary evidence to support the findings you have made in your self study and to demonstrate your compliance with the standards of accreditation. The

Biotech workshop for counselors

EVENT

Joe Berry to talk of his new book March 28

AFT 2121 will sponsor a reception for Joe Berry, former City College of San Francisco faculty member, AFT 2121 part-timer activist, and author of Reclaiming the Ivory Tower, on Tuesday, March 28, at 5 P.M. in the foyer of the Diego Rivera Theater on the Ocean Campus. Reclaiming the Ivory Tower is an analysis of the structure of higher education and how that structure depends on part-time faculty. The book also provides ideas for labor organizing and how part-time faculty can play a larger role in higher education.

Accreditation Visiting Team report

visiting team has thoroughly reviewed these documents as well.

The purpose of this closing session is to bring closure to this week's activities and to give you a sense of the team's major findings and recommendations. Let me offer three caveats in advance to frame our team's report.

1. The first is our assumption that City College of San Francisco is an institution of excellence, in every way. The purpose of our report, however, is to probe those areas that you have identified in your self study and we have validated during our visit that should receive attention for improvement. That is the ongoing dynamic of accreditation review - continuous self assessment and improvement. So please listen to my remarks and read our report as a report-by-exception, since it is the exceptions that are being probed in our recommendations.

2. The second is that our team's recommendation on accreditation status is confidential and may not be shared at this time. The recommendation will be considered by the Accrediting Commission at the Commission's June meeting and the Commission will determine what the final action will be. You will be informed of that along with the final report and recommendations of the team following the Commission's meeting.

3. Last, we will not be able to entertain questions at the end of our closing session. I apologize for that, but that is the protocol. So, after this meeting, we will be leaving without further comment. We will, however, send a copy of our draft report to your chancellor so that he will have the opportunity to correct any factual errors that he may find.

Let me now give you a summary of our findings and recommendations.

First, the team was very impressed by the overall organization we found on our visit to your institution. We found much that we consider to be exemplary and commendable. Here are just a few examples:

- You have made your transition from two institutions, credit and noncredit, to one large, diverse institution a complete success. This has been no easy task and we applaud you for the hard work you have devoted to this task.
- You offer programs and services in an entirely student-centered manner. It was clear to the visiting team that students are your primary concern, and the reorganizations and changes you have adopted in recent years have been undertaken for the right reason — responding better to student needs.
- You have an extraordinary faculty and an extraordinary staff, including dedicated administrators, who are the very best in their fields. And you have a chancellor who is devoted to this institution. He is a strong and visionary leader, who listens well, who makes himself available to the institutional community, and who takes a deep interest in your programs and services, and who is a strong advocate at the state and national levels.
- You have taken the time and made the effort to work collegially as a team. Board members, administrators, faculty members, and student leaders exhibit high regard for their counterparts in other segments of the organization. You have reached a special level in your development and the good will you express for one another is wonderful to see, and it will carry you far as you make the difficult choices and decisions that lie ahead.

Next, I would like to give you a sense of the team's findings.

Eligibility Requirements

City College of San Francisco has remained in compliance with all 21 of the eligibility requirements for accreditation. In a few areas, however, additional attention may be needed to ensure that appropriate actions and review measures are incorporated. But the bottom line is that your institution is in full compliance.

Responses to the Previous Evaluation Team

You were visited by an accreditation evaluation team in 2000 and, since that time, you have been addressing those recommendations. The team found that in almost every instance, you responded well to these recommendations. The few exceptions will be addressed in the present team's recommendations.

Our report will provide the detail of all of this, but I wanted you to know today that your compliance has been excellent.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Now we come to our recommendations for your ongoing improvement. The team identified three important areas of concern, which you also noted in your self study and thematic essays. We will have what we refer to as overarching recommendations in these three areas:

- Concern: The team found much evidence of planning throughout the institution and the individual planning initiatives are sophisticated and useful. The planning structure itself, through the Planning & Budgeting Council (PBC) also has ingrained this effort within the college's participatory governance format. However, the team found that the individual planning efforts are not as yet integrated, especially within the context of the annual budget.

Recommendation: The team recommends that the college builds on its current efforts and continues to develop an integrated process of institutional planning and assessment that combines strategic planning, educational planning, facilities planning, technology planning, and personnel planning in a manner that links these planning processes to annual budgets. Planning should be based upon the findings of instructional and non-instructional program review, which should include clear criteria for resource reallocation and/or program and service development, expansion, or termination.

• Concern: The team appreciated and came to respect the hard work and struggle that you as an institution have been having with the issue of Student Learning Outcomes. The demands of the public and legislative bodies for knowing more about institutional outcomes, and the interest of accreditors in making sure that institutions discuss and embrace this new paradigm of institutional accountability are now reflected in the standards of accreditation. Your thematic essay on this and your discussions with team members reflect your own differences of opinion. You have definitely had meaningful dialogue on this topic and you have made progress in some areas. However, it will be important for you to resolve your differences in a timely manner and make progress in shaping appropriate Student Learning Outcomes for the college, at the course and program level, and moving forward.

Recommendation: The team recommends that the college ensure that Student Learning Outcomes are fully institutionalized as a core element of college operations, with specific focus on curriculum and program development.

• Concern: City College of San Francisco is facing some fiscal challenges in the immediate future. In some cases, you have had great success, such as the passage of 3 separate bond measures, totaling $ 491 million, and through prudent enrollment management and operational choices, you have qualified for State funding and, in some cases, impressive federal grants. However, you continue to face some very serious challenges, many of which you share in common with other California community college districts, and some that are unique to City College San Francisco. You are a stable organization, but you are challenged by personnel costs that now utilize almost 92% of your budget; slightly reduced operational reserves; a serious unfunded liability in the area of retiree health benefits based on a recent actuarial study; and the ongoing injustice of underfunding of your noncredit FTES. The perfect storm that these elements provide in collision will not sink your ship, but they do need to be addressed in the immediate future. Your chancellor, your governing board, Peter Goldstein as well as your shared governance leaders are aware of this need and have already begun the discussions necessary.

Recommendation: The team recommends that the college develop a financial strategy that will: match ongoing expenditures with ongoing revenue; maintain the minimum prudent reserve level; reduce the percentage of its annual budget that is utilized for salaries and benefits; and address funding for retiree health benefits costs.

These are the three overarching recommendations that you will find in the team's final report.

Let me also share some additional recommendations, as they will appear in the standards:

• In Standard One: The team recommends that the college regularly employ a discrete review of the college's mission statement.

• In Standard Two: The team feels that there is not a need for additional recommendations, since the college's plans seem to be on track for instructional and student development quality assurance. The separate Student Learning Outcomes recommendation is the important item for the team. Because there are some specialized program improvement consultations in the near future that will affect the Student Development area, the team felt that the areas of remaining concern will shortly be addressed.

• In Standard Three: In addition to the overarching recommendation on finance, there will be two recommendations on facilities:

1. The team recommends that the college ensure the development of adequate contingency plans, which should be implemented in a timely manner in order to reduce potential exposure to losses.

2. The team recommends that the college include the future costs of operating and maintaining new and existing facilities in its planning models and allocate funds in a timely manner to assure the effective operation of these facilities.

• In Standard Four: The team recommends that the Board of Trustees establish a method of self evaluation, determine the schedule for this process, and complete self evaluations on a regular basis.

Let me conclude by saying that you will find much more content in the final report where our team findings will be fully explained and the recommendations will follow in context.

The fact that our recommendations are few, but thoughtful, is in keeping with the team's belief that you are an excellent college, and that the trust of the Accrediting Commission in your ability to fulfill your mission is well founded.

It was a pleasure and a privilege for us to visit your institution. Thank you.

See sun and stars on March 29th

The Astronomy Department and the Office of Mentoring and Service Learning invites all to celebrate NASA Sun-Earth Day on Wednesday, March 29.

Astronomy Service Learning students will operate a specially outfitted telescope for safe viewing of the Sun in Ram Plaza from 1 to 4 P.M. Later that evening, you can view the planets Saturn and Mars, the Orion nebula from 7:30 to 9:30 P.M. from the roof of the Science Building. In the event of poor weather, the Service Learning students will present an exciting astronomy slide show in Conlan Hall, Room 101 instead. Everyone is welcome to stop by and have a look.

Thirst explores water policy

The film Thirst by Alan Smitow and Deborah Kaufman will be shown Wednesday, March 29, 7 P.M. in Rosenberg Library, Room 304. Admission is free. The film examines how water is used and shared around the world. For details call (415) 239-3580.

Marilyn Wann talks of 'Fat!So?'

Fat rights activist and motivational speaker Marilyn Wann will talk at City College's Diego Rivera Theatre on Wednesday, March 29 from 9:10 to 10 A.M. She is the author of Fat!So? Because You Don't Have To Apologize For Your Size, based on the 'zine of the same name she founded in the 1990s. She speaks nationally about weight diversity and civil rights activism. She challenges audiences to reclaim their bodies and live healthy, regardless of their size. The talk is free and the public is welcome. Information Technology Policy Committee Minutes

December 2, 2005

Minutes

Minutes for October was distributed and approved with some final changes.

New Business

a. Student ID Card – Stephen Herman, Skip Fotch

Stephen Herman and Skip Fotch talked about the new student ID project. New ID is scheduled to be up and running in Spring 06 and it will be first issued to credit students at Ocean campus.

Discussion was held and a commitment made to include Non-Credit students as soon as possible. The phase 1 of the new ID will be pictures only; additional features will be added in areas such as campus bookstore, vending machines, printers, and health services. The new ID will be issued by the Associated Students and AS membership is required.

Skip Fotch mentioned the project cost was approximately $25,000 for equipment which was purchased by the AS. The card will cost $.95 to make and $4.05 will be the revenue managed by the AS.

b. Wide Distribution Email – Doug Re

Peter Goldstein suggested that greater use be made of wide distribution email, with the goals of reducing the cost of paper consumed and time. Currently, the Chancellor's Office handles all wide-distribution email, this will be expanded to include individuals on the OPS mailing list. Doug mentioned that Human Resources and ITS should work together to ensure that new employees all be issued an email account.

Peter suggested that a district wide pilot program to last for 6 months, and then be reviewed.

Old Business

a. Privacy – Denton Crews

Dr. Denton Crews distributed a handout on "Policy Proposal for Electronic Communications & Information Technology".

Privacy topic will be discussed in the future meeting.

Area Report

a. Director's Report

The new Banner server has resulted in a great improvement in speed and reliability.

Metropolitan Area Network (MAN) is completed except for Mission and Chinatown campuses.

Wireless access has been participated by approximately 500 users.

b. Future Meetings:

January 27th

February 10th

March 10th

April 21st

May 12th

Parking and Transportation Subcommittee Minutes

February 14, 2006 — 2:30 – 4 P.M. – Cloud 339

1. Motion to accept Minutes from 12/13/05 seconded and accepted.

2. Old Business

a) Openings in the committee – Committee looking for Faculty Replacement

b) Booting of Bicycle – Carl Koehler reported that the CCSFPD have "booted" several bikes. The owners are apologetic. This process seems successful in changing errant bike parking behavior

c) Update Parking North Science – motorcycle parking. Muriel Parenteau will request that Facilities Planning map out motorcycle spots in place of a "non" spot currently causing confusion in the lot.

d) Additional Spots on campus: This item has been on hold. The committee will address it again in the March Meeting

e) Progress report on sandwich board parking enforcement signs for CCSFPD: Sandwich boards up and all is well.

f) Facilities Review meeting 2/8/06 report: Muriel Parenteau reported that the majority of the meeting was devoted to new project requests and the 5 year construction plan. Next FRC meeting is March 1, 2006 1:30

3. New Business

a) Flex Car Presentation – Marybeth Snodgrass and Dana Beard gave a presentation regarding Flex Car. Flex car offers competitive rates and van and carpool options. Talks with Zip Car were delayed until after the Flex Car Presentation. The committee will recommend to the Facilities Review Committee that a small committee of administrators and P & T members meet to determine which Car sharing program would best suit the CCSF community.

b) Flashing Stop sign – Carl Koehler will talk with Stephen Herman about purchasing flashing stop sign that is solar powered for use in Cloud Circle in Front of Library

c) Safety striping outside Rosenberg – Jim Keenan will look into adding safety striping (truncated domes) outside the Rosenberg Library to warn folk walking into the Circle. He will confirm ADA regulations with Facilities first. Also will add truncated domes to area in North Sci where students exit classroom into oncoming traffic.
