A Report to the Board of Trustees Regarding ARCC:
Accountability Reporting for Community Colleges

February 23, 2012

Each year California Community Colleges must review and discuss ARCC, which stands for Accountability Reporting for Community Colleges.¹ This packet includes the following items:

- 2011 ARCC Report – pp. 116 – 121 showing Credit data for CCSF
- 2011 ARCC Report – pp. 596 – 601 showing Noncredit data for CCSF
- Overview of ARCC for CCSF and Comparison Colleges, including
  (a) an additional year of data from the 2012 ARCC Draft, and
  (b) a set of locally-selected comparison colleges.²

² ARCC currently includes statistically-derived peer groups; however, the state has already decided that the future ARCC reports beginning in 2013 will not include these because they are labor-intensive to produce and difficult to interpret. As an alternative to a statistical approach and in response to requests during prior year’s presentations, this overview includes selected comparison colleges including Los Angeles City, San Diego City, Santa Ana, and Mt San Antonio.
