Credit students are split nearly evenly between women and men, but the female enrollment is slightly higher at 55%. Enrollments for men and women are increasing at about the same rate.