Abstract:

Through “ESL Across the Curriculum,” ESL instructors provide content-area faculty the necessary training to best support second-language learners in their classrooms. Training focuses on a variety of techniques and methods such as sheltered English, Specially Developed Academic Instruction, and cognitive/academic English versus social/conversational English. Activities include conducting annual workshops for all college personnel, establishing a college-wide newsletter on issues of serving second-language students, offering a series of seminars for faculty and overseeing the incorporation of new methods and materials into the curriculum.
