

STUDENT RIGHT-TO-KNOW

In accordance with federal law, City College of San Francisco is required to publish annually its "Student Right-To-Know" (SRTK) transfer preparation/graduation/completion and other transfers rates. These rates are determined by the California Community College Chancellor's office and are based on a limited cohort of students. The rates are derived by tracking a fall cohort of students over three years and dividing the number of students who successfully become transfer prepared/graduate/ complete or actually transfer by the number in the initial cohort.

GRADUATION/COMPLETION AND TRANSFER RATES OF THE 1995 STUDENT RIGHT-TO-KNOW COHORT

Table with 3 columns: Metric, CCSF, Statewide. Rows include # in Fall 1995 Cohort, % of Total Fall 1995 Enrollment, Transfer Preparation/Graduation/Completion Rate, and Other Transfers Rate*.

The # in Fall 1995 Cohort includes only:

- First time, full-time, credit freshman who
• Are not in the military, and
• Indicate an AA, AS, Certificate, or transfer as their college goal on their application.

The Transfer Preparation/Graduation/Completion Rate includes students who receive an Associate's Degree, Certificate of Completion, or meet the UC guidelines for transfer eligibility.

The Other Transfers Rate includes any student that does not meet the graduation/completion/transfer preparation definition, but who does transfer to UC, CSU, or another California community college.

* The other transfers rate includes ONLY students who transferred but did not meet UC transfer preparation guidelines or earn a degree or certificate. Students who transferred and did meet UC transfer preparation guidelines or earn a degree or certificate are included in the transfer preparation/graduation/completion rate. For this reason, schools with a high transfer preparation/graduation/completion rate tend to have a low other transfers rate.

The % of Total Fall 1995 Enrollment demonstrates that SRTK rates reflect only a small portion (3% statewide, .5% at CCSF) of community college students, and provide a very limited picture of the diverse goals at City College and its success in accomplishing them.

City College of San Francisco excels at many different missions. Specifically, CCSF:

- offers free noncredit courses (Fall 1995 enrollment: 29,359)
• teaches English as a Second Language (Fall 1995 enrollment: 22,456)
• provides vocational training (Spring 1998 enrollment: 24,000)
• grants many degrees to non-traditional students (In the three years in which the 1995 SRTK cohort earned just over a hundred degrees and certificates at City College, CCSF awarded over 5000 degrees and certificates total—many to older, returning, or part time students.)
• offers over 100 programs of study
• has one of the most diverse populations of students in the country
