

CAN YOU SEE ME NOW?
Or Does Your TV Need Adjusting?
By Hope Casareno

I'm the man I always intended to be,
educated, open minded, compassionate and funny,
with a soft spot for family life and running the country.

I'm a man of action and of deep contemplation,
tempered with enough focus and determination to succeed in winning over the haters and debaters rocking the Hill.

There is much to be done in the months and years to come,
and for this, I will need your passion and your help.
Because you stood up to be counted, I am here for the duration.
I am asking you, once again, to step up and join me in rebuilding the nation.

I may not be remembered as the least controversial of presidents, rather, I am here to shake things up.
I have a plan, I have set my intention, and, reported on or not,
I am making great strides every day.

In our hands lies the ability to shape our world,
and with your continued support, we can do it.
Together we can, and we will, rebuild, re-energize,
and heal the soul of this great country.
