NEW ACCELERATED ENGLISH PATHWAY

The English Department now offers two intensive 6 unit courses that will allow students to complete two courses in one semester.

English 961A 6 units 6 hours per week
Prerequisite: Eligibility for English 96

College-level reading assignments. Practice in developing and writing formal essays and pursuing research, critical analysis, and lines of inquiry. Each section of English 961A will be developed around a central question driving class inquiry and research. (See each section in the schedule for the central question for that class.)

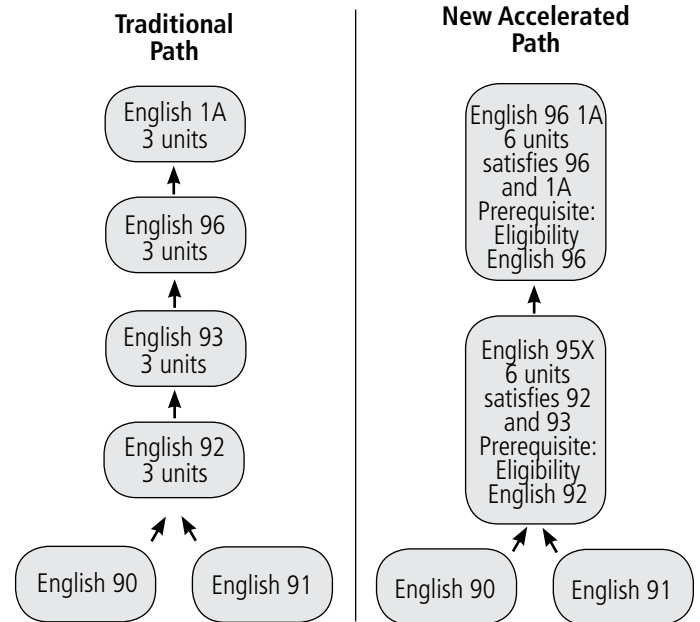

English 961A is an intensive course that combines two semester-length courses (English 96 + 1A) into one. Students are advised that the work load in this class is very challenging and time-consuming and requires students to meet university-level learning outcomes.

Students will enroll in the 3 unit English 96 course designated for English 961A. They will get their add code from the instructor for the linked Learning Community section of English 1A the second week of classes.

English 95X 6 units 6 hours per week
Prerequisite: Eligibility for English 92

Intensive pre-college composition and reading. Practice in critical reading, critical thinking, exposition, and argumentation. Each section of English 95X will be developed around a central question driving class reading and writing. (See each section in the schedule for the central question for that class.)

English 95X is a time-consuming, high intensity course that combines two semester-length courses (English 92 + 93) into one. Students are advised that the work load in this class is very fast-paced, challenging, and time-consuming. In addition to the required 6 hours per week of class time, students should reserve more than 10 hours each week for reading, writing, and studying outside of class.

LEVELS OF ESL CREDIT COURSES

The normal sequence of courses leading to the completion of the ESL Program is ESL 110, ESL 120, ESL 130, ESL 140, ESL 150 and ESL 160. Students who pass ESL 160 with a 'C' or better may use it as a pre-requisite to English 93, and then proceed through the English sequence. Students who are advised to take ESL Listening/Speaking courses (ESL 112, 122, 132, and 142) at the ESL Credit Placement Test should continue the sequence in subsequent semesters for best results. ESL 82 was discontinued as of Fall 2006, but still satisfies the written composition requirement for an AA/AS degree at CCSF if the student has 04-05 (or earlier) catalog rights, and it will satisfy the written composition transfer requirement for CSU if taken before Fall 2006.

ESL 170, beginning in Fall 2009, no longer satisfies the written composition requirement for an AA/AS degree at CCSF. However, students with catalog rights prior to 09-10 may still use ESL 170 for graduation; see a City College counselor for more information.

Books

Order books online from the CCSF bookstore for either USPS mail delivery or in-person pick up until the first week of classes. After classes begin, you will need to go to the bookstore. Check the instructor's website or the course syllabus for other suggested class materials and book options (e-book). Order books by visiting, <http://www.ccsf.edu/bookstore>

Support Services for Students with Disabilities

Students needing academic accommodations for a disability make requests from Disabled Students Program and Services (DSPS). DSPS is the office responsible for verifying disability-related needs, assessing that need, and for planning reasonable accommodations in cooperation with students and faculty as needed and consistent with course requirements. If you are able to come to campus, DSPS is located in the Rosenberg Library, Room 323 on the Ocean Campus. If you are a distance learner and unable to come to campus, services can be arranged via email at dspacom@ccsf.edu or by telephone at (415) 452-5481 (Voice) or (415) 452-5451 (TDD).

Online Courses Access Requirements

A computer with Internet capability is the primary tool used for online courses. Students are strongly encouraged to have some basic computer experience and regular access to a computer with Internet capabilities. The computer will need to meet certain hardware and software requirements. Check <http://insight.ccsf.edu> to find out if your computer meets the requirements. Some courses require software downloads.

Students may use the open access computer labs on campuses with a valid current semester CCSF ID with a barcode.

Online and telecourses provide students with the opportunity to learn in an environment that is physically remote from their instructors and classmates making it easier to balance education goals with family and work responsibilities. Distance learning classes allow students to study at times and places that are convenient to their schedule. Students may choose to combine a telecourse or an online class with on-campus classes or take an entire course load remotely.

The content of online classes and telecourses as well as the time commitment are the same as for a face-to-face course. Classes require textbooks, assignments and exams with due dates, interaction between students and the instructor, and offer tools that support student learning. Students taking distance learning classes are independent learners, self-motivated and possess effective study skills.

CCSF offers over 150 online classes and telecourses, many meeting the CCSF graduation requirements for an AA/AS degree. In addition, the distance learning classes offered satisfy close to 85% of the general education requirements for the California State University system, the breadth requirements for the University of California system and IGETC pattern requirements respectively.

Registration for distance learning classes follows the same process as face-to-face classes. Visit <http://ccsf.edu> and click on Online Registration from the CCSF Quick Links for admission and registration information.

Adding an Online Class or Telecourse Students can add an online class or telecourse during the add/drop period by asking the instructor for an add code. Telecourses require an orientation at which time students may ask for an add code—providing the course is not full. For online classes, student must check the instructor's website for details about adding the course.

Telecourses (<http://www.ccsf.edu/telecourses>)

Students use San Francisco's Comcast Cable Channels 27 and 75 to watch the course lessons. Students may also use their own equipment to record the lessons for later viewing. Students without Comcast Basic Cable may watch the video lessons in the Media Center at the Rosenberg Library on the Ocean Campus. Streaming video is available for most courses for a fee through IRIS education <http://www.iriseducation.org/b2c/ccsf>. Materials are a combination of textbook, written assignments, phone and video lessons. Course materials are sent directly to a student's mailing address. Students are required to meet three times during the semester on the Ocean Campus for an orientation, midterm and final examination. Refer to the section in this schedule for course details or visit <http://www.ccsf.edu/telecourses>.

Online Courses (<http://www.ccsf.edu/online/courses>)

Students complete course work using Insight, CCSF's online learning management system. Access to a computer with Internet capability is required when taking an online class. Find out if an online class is right for you, visit http://www.ccsf.edu/Departments/Distance\_Education/self\_eval.htm and take a short survey. Refer to the section in this schedule and instructor websites for more details about particular courses and possible on-campus meeting requirements.
