Completion Options

For general education or elective hours needed, the following options or combination of options are available to assist you:

- Attend in-class at City College of San Francisco or any accredited college or university.
- Online Classes - Bellevue University offers a variety of online classes to assist you with the additional hours needed to reach your educational goals. Your advisor will have information on the availability of the online classes and there is no requirement to come on campus.
- Course Clusters - Course clusters are designed for working adult students and are available only to those with 40 or more hours of college credit. These courses offer an intensive accelerated examination of a particular subject from three interlocking perspectives. The goal is to link these three perspectives holistically to encourage real-world thinking about complex topics, and to broaden the student's comprehensive knowledge of the chosen subject.
- Experiential Learning Assessment (ELA) - ELA is a method for earning college credit for life experiences. Call our toll free number, (800) 756-7920, ext. 3752 and speak to Professor Julie Stoner or emailjstoner@bellevue.edu to discuss how to receive life experience credit.
- CLEP or DANTES Tests - These are proctored examination programs that allow you to receive credit for your knowledge. CLEP and DANTES testing centers are available at many educational institutions. CLEP/DANTES can be used for an unlimited number of credits.
- Self Study Courses - Self study allows you to work independently for credit and arrange study times to fit your schedule. Students may use video or audiotapes, software, textbooks, articles and/or study guides to complete these classes. Contact your Bellevue University counselor or BU Enrollment Management Services at (800) 756-7920, ext. 7235 for more information.
