Assessment in Multiple Ways

Dora J. L. Dye
Paralegal/Legal Studies Program Coordinator and Instructor Business Department

I. SLOs and Assessment:  The Connection

II. Methods of Assessment
   a. Assessment of a Course
      i. Use of rubrics
      ii. Student Surveys
   b. Assessment of a Program
      i. Student Surveys
      ii. Faculty Meetings
      iii. Focus Group of Employers
      iv. Graduate Surveys or Calls to Graduates
      v. Internships

III. When to Assess
   a. Beginning of Semester Planning
   b. Gathering Data When Attendance is High
   c. Follow up by the End of the Semester

IV. Analysis of Data Gathered
   a. Compile the Data
   b. What worked?
   c. What did not work?

V. Written Report
   a. Document Findings
   b. Share written report with faculty, department, and advisory committee

VI. Decision and Revision
   a. What is next?
   b. Revise course and/or program as needed

VII. Writing of Assessment Plan (hands-on)
   a. Course SLOs
   b. Program SLOs
   c. Connection between Course and Program SLOs
   d. What to Assess
   e. Method(s) of Assessment
   f. Calendar showing when Method(s) of Assessment will be Conducted
   g. Analysis of Data
   h. Sharing of Data
   i. Decision