 Completing a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) is an important component of student success in that students learn what financial support they can receive at those institutions to which they are applying. In some cases, students complete the FAFSA but don't enroll at our institution. Not all students who receive financial aid are eligible for Pell grants, and not all students who receive a Pell grant award accept it. For these and other reasons, there is not a direct relationship between FAFSA completion and Pell grant awards.*
